Fall 2010

Final Update: Soles for Souls

By Lauren Glass

In January 2010, an earthquake hit Haiti affecting 3 million people, making an estimated 1 million homeless and leaving many without basic necessities. Today, thousands of people in Haiti are still without many things they need. Many walk around daily without shoes because they cannot afford them.

There was something we could do to make a difference, and the Hollymont family responded in a big way! This summer we collected 354 pairs of new and gently worn shoes to be donated to Mission Haiti for distribution. Mission Haiti is a local, Christian volunteer non-profit organization serving the Lord since 1983. They make frequent trips to Haiti, ministering to the people, as well as sending supplies regularly via large cargo trailers. Our shoes were put on one of those cargo trailers in August and sent to Haiti. Marshall Blankenship, president of Mission Haiti, said that the people of Haiti were so grateful for the shoes. Phyllis Newby, missionary in Haiti, had the opportunity to give out many of the shoes. She said that the people of Haiti are so thankful for people in America who are willing to give so that others can be blessed.

As I watched you put shoes of all varieties into the bins this summer, you did so with such excitement and selflessness. You were always eager to know how many pairs of shoes had been collected and when the shoes would reach the people of Haiti. Your generosity was overwhelming.

We are truly blessed people. We have more than we need. Thank you for giving so that others could be blessed. Proverbs 28:27a says, "He who gives to the poor will lack nothing." We pray that you have experienced the joy of giving this summer.
